

History of DCIA

In 1969, four congregations in downtown Durham, NC, organized the Inner-City Church Council to address together needs for transportation and visitation for the elderly, and soon also started programs for children and youth. It incorporated in 1972 and, during the next six years, membership grew to 12 congregations. In 1976, the group's name changed to Durham Congregations In Action, and its membership continued to grow over the years to include dozens of congregations of Christians, Jews, Muslims, and others cooperating together in service.

DCIA ORGANIZES INTERFAITH LEARNING AND COOPERATION AGAINST POVERTY, RACISM AND VIOLENCE. For decades, DCIA congregations have learned from the best information available about community needs and challenges. And during those decades, DCIA has built a history of initiating cooperative programs among people of faith to address those issues. Programs serving the Durham community that were launched or cosponsored at their start by DCIA have included:

Meals On Wheels, Host Homes, Families First, Urban Ministries of Durham, DSS Emergency Energy Fund, Genesis Home, Interfaith Hospitality Network, Interfaith AIDS Alliance, Religious Coalition for a Nonviolent Durham, Capital Restorative Justice Project, Durham Economic Resource Center, One World Market, Partners for Youth Opportunity, Circles of Support and Accountability (COSA), Youth Summer Service Week and MANY other shorter-term projects over the years. From the beginning, DCIA has created space and opportunity for people of different traditions and ethnicities to share and to grow from each other's strengths and experience, putting shared values to work. The shape of DCIA's services over the years has changed, but it has continued to build bridges among its members and to the most vulnerable and forgotten in our community, planting seeds in new initiatives to change lives in Durham.

CURRENTLY SPONSORED MINISTRIES

STRONG FATHERS

Strong Fathers is a 20-week strengths-based intervention for fathers who have engaged in domestic violence or are at-risk of doing so. Weekly meetings last 2.5 hours and include dinner, a check-in, and exploration of the week's topic. Up to 12 fathers participate in each group and form strong and lasting relationships with other participants.

CROP HUNGER WALK

Since 1975, DCIA has sponsored this local walkathon for world hunger and disaster relief through Church World Service, which uses 75% of the funds raised for crisis assistance and development work around the globe. DCIA distributes 25% of the funds raised to various local hunger relief programs, recently averaging between $35,000 and $50,000 per year. Since 1975, the Durham CROP Hunger Walk has raised more than $3,800,000, and DCIA has distributed over $876,000 locally. DCIA also administers federal funds for hunger relief and homeless services by local direct service programs.

INTER-RELIGIOUS RELATIONS

DCIA organizes inter-religious events and meetings, including a community Thanksgiving celebration, community ceremonies around particular topics such as homelessness and domestic violence, text studies and topical dialogues, shared service events, and social meals. These deepen participants' experience of their own faiths and that of others. DCIA organizes "Sacred Visitations" when leaders from a congregation host guests from other traditions at their site and ceremonies, to provide an introduction to and discussion about the host tradition. DCIA also connects Partner Congregations of different traditions and ethnicities for longer-term relationships of presence and participation with one another.

REAL DURHAM

Volunteer allies share support and service with parents of families in material poverty who are working to achieve stability and sustainable employment. Partnered families identify key goals and objectives that their team can support them in pursuing. Increasing income and assets, bolstering job retention, involving the community in individual solutions, and addressing systemic barriers are some of the related outcomes that strengthen both individual families and the wider community. End Poverty Durham co-sponsors REAL Durham.

LEADERSHIP EDUCATION and ORIENTATIONS

DCIA welcomes ministers new to Durham and introduces them to colleagues, and also invites ministers to periodic gatherings for relational networking and sharing. Our monthly assembly meetings inform leaders about important community developments. To equip ministers and lay leaders for effective work, we offer orientations and tours of different service networks, such as hunger relief services, homelessness and housing services, and mental health services. We connect congregational leaders with leaders of community service agencies to discuss needs and strategies related to poverty relief. DCIA maintains community resource guides to programs providing emergency food, shelter, clothing, and financial assistance. DCIA also provides consultation to individual congregations on organizing social ministries.
